

ENDING VIOLENCE AGAINST CHILDREN

Developing a Roadmap to a Healthy Childhood and Adolescence

MARCH 22–23, 2018, 9AM–5PM

STERN AUDITORIUM AT THE MOUNT SINAI HOSPITAL
1468 MADISON AVENUE, NEW YORK, NY 10029

Mount
Sinai

Adolescent Health Center

CHILDHOOD

WORLD CHILDHOOD FOUNDATION
FOUNDED BY H.M. QUEEN SILVIA OF SWEDEN

ENDING VIOLENCE AGAINST CHILDREN

Developing a Roadmap to a Healthy Childhood and Adolescence

WE ACKNOWLEDGE, WITH GRATITUDE, THE SUPPORTERS OF THIS PROGRAM:

Marguerite Casey Foundation
The Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center
The New York Community Trust
The New York Women's Foundation
World Childhood Foundation, USA

Thursday, March 22

8:00–8:55

Complimentary Continental Breakfast

9:00–9:05

Welcome Remarks

Dennis Charney, MD, Anne and Joel Ehrenkranz Dean, Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai; President for Academic Affairs, Mount Sinai Health System

9:05–9:15

Opening Remarks

Joanna Rubinstein, DDS, PhD, President and CEO, World Childhood Foundation USA

Angela Diaz, MD, PhD, MPH, Director, Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center

9:20–10:10

PANEL

Early Life Stress and the Developing Brain

Leading experts will discuss the effects of stress and trauma on the brains of children and adolescents. They will present their latest research findings and their significance for the development of new treatments.

Philip Campbell, PhD, Editor-in-Chief, Nature Magazine (Moderator)

Victor Carrion, MD, John A. Turner, M.D. Endowed Professor, Vice Chair, Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, Stanford University

Beatriz Luna, PhD, Staunton Professor of Psychiatry and Pediatrics, University of Pittsburgh

Martin Teicher, MD, PhD, Director, Developmental Biopsychiatry Research Program, McLean Hospital; Associate Professor of Psychiatry, Harvard Medical School

10:10–11:00

KEYNOTE

What Has Become of Abused and Neglected Children?

Research findings surrounding long-term consequences of early childhood abuse and neglect and its intergenerational transmission.

Cathy Spatz Widom, PhD, Distinguished Professor, Psychology Department, John Jay College of Criminal Justice

11:00–11:25

KEYNOTE

Toxic Stress and Brain Development

What is the difference between good stress and toxic stress? How early life adversity and epigenetics play a role in how the brain deals with stress and in the progression of psychiatric illnesses, such as post-traumatic stress disorder and depression.

Bruce McEwen, PhD, Alfred E. Mirsky Professor, Rockefeller University

11:25–11:50

KEYNOTE

Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) Study

A discussion on the background and findings of the ground-breaking ACEs study initiative. Learn about the powerful relationship between our emotional experiences in childhood and our physical and mental health as adults, and why keeping children safe from violence and trauma is critical.

Vincent Felitti, MD, Clinical Professor of Medicine, University of California

11:50–12:15

KEYNOTE

Developmental Victimology

A presentation of developmental victimology, including what motivated Dr. Finkelhor to research it, what is known today and how it changes between childhood and adolescence.

David Finkelhor, PhD, Director, Crimes against Children Research Center, University of New Hampshire

12:15–1:15

Lunch

1:15–1:25

KEYNOTE

Global Priorities and Opportunities

The new global partnership that helps to mobilize political commitment and actions to end all forms of violence against children. Hear how it builds on the Global Agenda 2030, and the Sustainable Development Goals framework.

Howard Taylor, PhD, Executive Director, The Global Partnership to End Violence Against Children

1:30–2:20

PANEL

The Power of Research: Developing Scientific Evidence for Action

Research leaders will discuss what their studies and findings have meant for each other's work, existing gaps and opportunities, and how to harness the research to ensure it informs practice and makes a difference in children's lives.

René Kahn, MD, PhD, Chairman, Department of Psychiatry, Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai (Moderator)

Vincent Felitti, MD, Clinical Professor of Medicine, University of California

David Finkelhor, PhD, Director, Crimes against Children Research Center, University of New Hampshire

Bruce McEwen, PhD, Alfred E. Mirsky Professor, Rockefeller University

2:20–3:10

PANEL

Violence Against Children and the Global Agenda 2030

Governments around the world have committed to the Global Agenda 2030 and the Sustainable Development Goals. Policy experts, researchers and practitioners will discuss what this means for safeguarding children, making sure no child is left behind, and to what extent violence against children is on the global agenda.

Joanna Rubinstein, DDS, PhD, President and CEO, World Childhood Foundation USA (Moderator)

Andrew Claypole, Senior Advisor, Office of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General on Violence against Children, United Nations

Hans Forsberg, HF Professor, Karolinska Institutet, Sweden; President, International Alliance of Academies of Childhood Disability

Carol Smolenski, Executive Director, ECPATUSA

3:10–3:30

KEYNOTE

Children First

A macroeconomist's view on the importance of investing in children and addressing violence against children and adolescents and how policies such as universal health care and education (from preschool to secondary education) matter.

Jeffrey Sachs, PhD, Director, Center for Sustainable Development, Columbia University; Special Advisor to the United Nations Secretary General on the Sustainable Development Goals

3:30–4:20

PANEL

Safeguarding Mental Health in Childhood and Adolescence

City officials, policy makers and other experts will discuss what is being done in NY and elsewhere to address the implications of violence in childhood and adolescence on mental health.

Hara Ntalla, M.S.ED/CSE, LP, LP, Clinical Director, Seleni (Moderator)

Gary Belkin, MD, Executive Deputy Commissioner, NYC of Health & Mental Hygiene

Philip Campbell, PhD, Editor-in-Chief, Nature Magazine

Jamie Howard, PhD, Director, Trauma and Resilience Service, Child Mind Institute

Janet Rosenzweig, MS, PhD, MPA, Executive Director, The American Professional Society on the Abuse of Children

4:20–5:10

PANEL

Data and the Societal Cost of Abuse

The recent estimates of economic impact of violence in childhood show enormous costs to the cities, globally and to society at large. The experts will discuss these findings, and how investments in research and programs can better address the issue at hand in a cross-sector way.

Nicole Epps, Managing Director, Programs & Policy, World Childhood Foundation USA (Moderator)

Katie Albright, JD, Executive Director, Safe & Sound

Kathleen Cravero, President, OAK Foundation

5:10–6:00

Reception

Friday, March 23

9:00–9:05

Welcome

Malva Rabinowitz, President, Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center Advisory Board

9:05–9:55

PANEL

Leaders in Helping Survivors of Sex Trafficking

Sex trafficking of children and adolescents is one of the worst crimes of humanity. Experts discuss the role of survivors in contributing to developing solutions.

Lyndon Haviland, Council Chair, Dean's Advisory Council, CUNY School of Public Health (Moderator)

Tina Frundt, Founder and Executive Director, Courtney's House

Rachel Lloyd, Founder and President, GEMS

Katherine Mullen, Esq., Staff Attorney, Juvenile Rights Practice, The Legal Aid Society

Veronica Zeitlin, Senior Counter-Trafficking and Gender Advisor, USAID

9:55–10:15

KEYNOTE

Childhood Sexual Abuse: Impact, Identification, and Interventions

Angela Diaz, MD, PhD, MPH, Director, Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center

10:15–10:35

KEYNOTE

Follow the Data! How the Finance Sector Uses Data to Fight Trafficking

Barry Koch, Esq., Former Counsel to the Investigation Division at New York County District Attorney's Office

10:35–11:25

PANEL

From Barriers to Solutions: The Role of the Justice System

Law enforcement and the justice system play a crucial role in addressing violence against children and adolescents. Representatives from different agencies and organizations will share their work and experiences in helping survivors, collaborating with each other and how a child-friendly response system, the Child Advocacy Center (CAC) Model, works in practice.

John Pickett, MA, MSW, Senior Director, Safe Horizon (Moderator)

Tenaz Dubash, Victim Assistance Specialist, Homeland Security Investigations

Barry Koch, Esq., Former Counsel to the Investigation Division at New York County District Attorney's Office

Dorchen Leidholdt, Esq., Director, Legal Center, Sanctuary for Families

Hon. Edwina Mendelson, Deputy Chief Administrative Judge, Office for Justice Initiatives, NY State Unified Court System

Laura Riso, Victim Specialist, FBI New York, Victim Services Division

11:25–12:15

PANEL

Creating Inclusive and Responsive Services for All

Experts and practitioners discuss what inclusive services look like and if there are groups of children and adolescents who are more at risk of not getting the right services.

Gladys Carrión, Esq., Former Commissioner, New York City Administration for Children's Services (Moderator)

Ashby Dodge, LCSW, Chief Clinical Officer, Trevor Project

Yamile M. Martí Haidar, LMSW, MA and PhD, Lecturer, Columbia School of Social Work

Paul Barrett, Project Manager, Safe Horizon

John Steever, MD, Director of Special Programs, Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center

12:15–1:15

Lunch

1:15–2:05

PANEL

Service in Action: Lessons from Organizations Serving Youth

Organizations helping and serving youth discuss their experiences, how they address violence against children and adolescents, and the support needed for successful initiatives to scale up.

Martin Feinman, Esq. Juvenile Justice Coordinator and Trainer for the Juvenile Rights Practice, Legal-Aid (Moderator)

Jess Dannhauser, President and CEO, Graham Windham

Chandré Gould, Senior Research Fellow, Justice and Violence Prevention Programme, Institute for Security Studies

Michael Johnson, Youth Protection Director, Boy Scouts of America

Julie Novak, Vice President, Child Safety, Big Brothers, Big Sisters

Anne Nucci-Sack, MD, Medical Director, Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center

2:05–2:55

PANEL

Keeping Children Safe: From Prevention, Intervention, and Support

Practitioners will discuss their innovative programs that address violence against children and adolescents. Hear about the importance of having an ecosystem that includes prevention, intervention and support, and how it can be implemented through family, hospitals and other entities.

Richard Rothman, Esq., Sr. Counsel, Weil, Gotshal & Manges (Moderator)

Jetta Bernier, MA, Executive Director, MassKids

Katherine Grimm, MD, Medical Director, New York Center for Children

Susan Morley, Senior Advisor for Investigations, New York City Administration for Children's Services

2:55–3:20

PANEL

Working Across Sectors on Innovative Solutions

Ashley Smith Juarez, National Director, Clinton Foundation (Moderator)

Rumeli Banik, Program Officer for Child Well-Being, Doris Duke Charitable Foundation

Susan Beane, MD, Senior Vice President and Medical Director, Healthfirst

Tim Lisante, PhD, Superintendent, NYC Department of Education

3:20–3:45

PANEL

Breaking the Cycle of Violence: Getting Back on the Right Track

Ashley Smith Juarez, National Director, Clinton Foundation (Moderator)

Ana Oliveira President and CEO, New York Women's Foundation

Winette Saunders Deputy Commissioner, Youthful Offender Programming, NYC Department of Correction

Audrey Wilson Senior Director, NYC Department of Probation

3:45–4:15

PANEL

Collective Action

Ashley Smith Juarez, National Director, Clinton Foundation (Moderator)

Joseph Chiarella, MD Chief Medical Officer, UnitedHealthcare Community Plan of New York

Angela Diaz, MD, MPH, PhD, Director, Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center

David Hansell, Esq., Commissioner, New York City Administration for Children's Services

Irfan Hasan Program Director, The New York Community Trust

Joanna Rubinstein, DDS, PhD, President and CEO, World Childhood Foundation USA

Michael Sheldrick, Vice President, Global Policy and Government Affairs, Global Citizen

4:15–4:30

Concluding Remarks: A Roadmap to a Healthy Childhood and Adolescence

Ashley Smith Juarez, National Director, Clinton Foundation (Moderator)

Angela Diaz, MD, MPH, PhD Director, Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center

Joanna Rubinstein, DDS, PhD President and CEO, World Childhood Foundation USA

Panelists & Speakers

Katie Albright, JD

Katie Albright, JD, (CEO + President) joined Safe & Sound ten years ago, when it was called the San Francisco Child Abuse Prevention

Center. Her prior experiences include SF Deputy City Attorney representing the public schools; SF Education Fund Policy Director leading a campaign to improve teacher quality and increase student retention; and, Preschool California Co-Director of Policy & Outreach campaigning statewide for universal preschool. Prior to serving as an associate at Latham & Watkins and clerking for the US District Court in Maryland, she co-founded and taught in the Kayole-Gitau Nursery School & Community Center in Nairobi, Kenya.

Katie actively serves on local and national, non-profit and government boards and commissions. She received an Ascend Fellowship from The Aspen Institute and Social Entrepreneurship Fellowship at Stanford University. Katie graduated with honors from Georgetown University Law Center and Williams College.

Rumeli Banik, PhD

Rumeli Banik, PhD, is the Program Officer for the Child Well-being Program at the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation. Her work involves promoting positive child and family outcomes and preventing child abuse and neglect by supporting grantees to engage in cross-systems collaboration to reduce inequities in access to health and human services, use data and evidence to communicate the impact of interventions and policies that affect vulnerable populations, and test innovative financing strategies to determine the most effective approaches to support child and family well-being. Dr. Banik earned a doctorate in Applied Developmental Psychology from Fordham University, and a Master of Arts in Child Development and a Bachelor of Arts in Child Development and Biomedical Engineering from Tufts University. She is a co-principal investigator of a study about the role of Latina mothers' parenting experiences on early childhood development at Fordham University. Her prior research examined how differences in the experiences of the transition to parenthood influenced adjustment to parenthood in first-time mothers from high and low socioeconomic backgrounds. She has also developed a workshop about parenting skills and child development for caregivers of young children at Mount Sinai Hospital. Earlier in her career, she designed and implemented evidence-based parenting program content for culturally and socioeconomically diverse families of children birth to age five as a community-based child development specialist at the University of Miami Miller School of Medicine.

Susan Beane, MD

Dr. Susan Beane joined Healthfirst in 2009, bringing with her extensive professional experience in managed care. As Vice President and Medical Director at Healthfirst, Dr. Beane focuses on care management and clinical provider partnerships, programs especially designed to improve the delivery of vital, evidence-based health care to our members. Dr. Beane, a dedicated primary care physician and board certified internist, is a strong proponent of collaborating with and engaging providers to improve health outcomes.

Dr. Susan Beane leads Healthfirst in collaborating with major healthcare delivery systems, local, and national policy experts on the design, implementation, and dissemination of innovative, outcomes focused models of care. Her research contributions span health of caregivers, obesity, and maternal health.

Prior to joining Healthfirst, Dr. Beane served as Chief Medical Officer for Affinity Health Plan for five years—during which time she helped Affinity's plan become a top performer in quality and member satisfaction. Before that, she worked at AmeriChoice and HIP USA, as Medical Director.

Dr. Beane is a graduate of Princeton University and Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Gary Belkin, MD, PhD, MPH

Dr. Belkin is the Executive Deputy Commissioner of Mental Hygiene in the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. The Division of Mental Hygiene has driven the framework and implementation for an NYC wide approach to innovate for mental health called ThriveNYC, which is changing the conversation about mental health as a public health priority. He manages policy, planning, services development, and implementation for prevention, promotion and treatment efforts across NYC. Before his current role he was the Medical Director for Behavioral Health in the Health and Hospitals Corporation of the City of New York, which operates 11 public hospitals in New York City. Dr. Belkin has also served as Chief of Psychiatry (Interim) at Bellevue Hospital and has led policy development in urban health settings, with an interest in advancing innovative approaches to public mental health. As an Associate Professor in the Department of Psychiatry at New York University School of Medicine, he was the founding Director of the NYU Program in Global Mental Health.

Jetta Bernier, MA

Jetta Bernier directs MassKids, the nation's oldest statewide private child advocacy organization (1959) and the Massachusetts

Chapter of Prevent Child Abuse America. Jetta co-developed "Enough Abuse," a citizen education and community mobilization effort to prevent sexual abuse. Developed through a 5-year grant from the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, which lauded the effort "trailblazing," the initiative has been adopted in several states.

Jetta is the developer of many highly regarded prevention tools, including: "Enough!" a one-hour, interactive, evidence-informed training designed for school personnel;

"Sexual Abuse Safe Child Standards" a policy guide for schools and youth organization; and a series of "Prevention Guides for Parents".

Jetta co-chairs the Policy Committee of the National Coalition to Prevent Child Sexual Abuse. She serves on the National Task Force on Educator Sexual Misconduct which in February released its recommendations for the country's 15,000 independent private schools. Jetta trains trainers and provides consultation to schools and youth organization around prevention policies.

Sir Philip Campbell

Sir Philip Campbell is Editor-in-Chief of Nature and of the Nature publications. His areas of responsibility include the editorial content for the journal, magazine and multimedia components of Nature and assuring the long-term quality of all Nature publications.

Following his postdoctoral research in atmospheric physics, he joined Nature and became Physical Sciences Editor. In 1988 he moved to the UK Institute of Physics to be the founding editor of Physics World, the international magazine of the UK Institute of Physics. He returned to Nature and was appointed Editor-in-Chief of Nature in 1995.

In recent years he has championed ways of strengthening scientific robustness and has stimulated Nature content, and also new multi-disciplinary journals, that address societal issues such as energy, sustainability and human behaviour.

He is the recipient of several honorary degrees and awards. He is an Honorary Fellow of Clare Hall, Cambridge University. He was awarded a knighthood in the Queen's birthday honours list of 2015 for his services to science.

He is a founding trustee and Chair of the research funding charity 'MQ: transforming mental health'.

Gladys Carrión, Esq.

Gladys Carrión is recognized as a national leader for her efforts to reform Juvenile Justice in New York State and a fearless advocate for children and families involved in the child welfare system. She was appointed Commissioner of the New York City Administration for Children's Services (ACS) in January 2014, where she was charged with providing child welfare, early childhood care and juvenile justice services to the City's most vulnerable children and families.

Prior to ACS, Ms. Carrión was Commissioner of the Office of Children and Family Services (OCFS). Under her leadership, she shut down 21 juvenile centers, diverting juvenile justice involved youth to less costly and more effective therapeutic programs located closer to home. Additional positions held by Ms. Carrión include; Senior Vice President for Community Investment with the United Way of New York City where she was responsible for implementing United Way's Community Action Strategy, Executive Director of Inwood House, and Commissioner of New York City's Community Development Agency where she led antipoverty efforts by restructuring the Community Actions Programs increasing the number of communities and residents eligible to receive aid. Carrión began her career as an attorney with the Bronx Legal Services Corporation. Born and raised in the Bronx, Commissioner Carrión is a graduate of Fordham University and New York University School of Law.

Victor G. Carrion, MD

Dr. Victor G. Carrion is the John A. Turner, M.D. Professor and Vice Chair of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences at Stanford University and Director of the Early Life Stress program. His multidisciplinary research on the behavioral, academic, emotional, and biological late effects of experiencing trauma has led to the development and implementation of effective new interventions for treating children who experience traumatic stress. Dr. Carrion has authored and developed the multi-modal intervention therapist guide, Cue-Centered Therapy for Youth Experiencing Posttraumatic Symptoms. Additionally, he is the author of Neuroscience of Pediatric PTSD. He has published numerous peer-reviewed articles in leading psychiatric journals such as Biological Psychiatry, Depression and Anxiety, Journal of Pediatric Psychology. Dr. Carrion is the Principal Investigator for the Stanford Health and Wellness Study.

Dennis S. Charney, MD

Dennis S. Charney, MD, is Anne and Joel Ehrenkranz Dean of the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai and President for Academic Affairs for the Mount Sinai Health System. He is also a world expert in the neurobiology and treatment of "mood and anxiety disorders.

Dr. Charney is one of the world's most highly cited life science researchers; he stands as number 48 in a list of 1,360 researchers in the world that appear most prominently in Google Scholar Citations. In 2017, the Cleveland Clinic identified Dr. Charney's discovery of the use of ketamine for treatment-resistant depression as one of the top 10 medical innovations of the year. Dr. Charney has written or co-authored more than 700 publications, including groundbreaking scientific papers, chapters, and books.

Joseph Chiarella, MD

Dr. Joseph Chiarella joined United Healthcare in 2011 and is the chief medical officer for United Healthcare's Community Plan in New York. In this role, Dr. Chiarella leads a clinical team that facilitates United Healthcare's expansion across New York State.

He also works closely with the United Healthcare teams responsible for NCQA re-accreditation, and with the New York State Health Plan Association to provide key information and clinical expertise to New York's regulators and elected officials.

Dr. Chiarella has over 30 years of experience and has held leadership positions at many commercial and government health centers and Managed Care Organizations.

A graduate of St. John Fisher College in Rochester NY, a member of the American Association for Physician Leadership, and an honorary Police Surgeon with the NYPD, Dr. Chiarella was born and raised in New York City. He enjoys working on old cars and displaying them in car shows and cruise-ins throughout the northeast.

Andrew Claypole

Andrew Claypole is Senior Advisor to the SRSB on Violence against Children. He has 25 years of experience in social policy, research, monitoring, evaluation, and communication in the UN and UNICEF, both at headquarters and in the field. Before joining the UN he was a senior researcher at the BBC. Most recently he was the Chief of Social Policy at UNICEF in Thailand, prior to which he was Chief of Programme Planning, Monitoring, and Evaluation at UNICEF in China. In these capacities he has provided technical support in social policy analysis, research, monitoring, and evaluation to a range of government partners, academic institutes, and NGOs. In Thailand he supported the government in the conduct of the first national survey on violence against children, as well as promoting the strengthening of the national social protection system. In 2015, he coordinated the advocacy of the Office of the SRSB on the development of indicators to monitor the violence against children targets of the global SDGs. He has a BA in Economics and a Master's in Human Rights from the London School of Economics.

Kathleen Cravero, PhD, MPH

Kathleen Cravero was appointed President of Oak Foundation in February 2009. In this capacity she supports the Trustees of Oak Foundation to address issues of global, social and environmental concern, particularly those that have a major impact on the lives of the disadvantaged. She also provides leadership and guidance to Oak Foundation staff in each of the six substantive programmes of the Foundation, including the Environment, Child Abuse, Housing & Homelessness, International Human Rights, Issues Affecting Women and Learning Differences.

Prior to joining Oak Foundation, Kathleen worked for over two decades on a range of international development issues, from newly emerging democracies to conflict and emergency situations. Kathleen worked in various posts of increasing responsibility with UNAIDS, UNICEF, UNDP and WHO. Her two last assignments with the United Nations included Director of the Bureau for Crisis Prevention and Recovery with the United Nations Development Programme (Feb 2005–Jan 2009) and Deputy Executive Director of the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS (from March 2000 to March 2005).

Advancing gender equality is a long-standing concern for Kathleen. At UNDP, she chaired the Steering Committee of “Stop Rape Now—UN Action Against Sexual Violence in Conflict”, which unites the work of 12 UN entities with the goal of ending sexual violence in conflict. From 2005 to 2008, she chaired the Leadership Council of the Global Coalition on Women and AIDS, a group of prominent personalities who advocate publicly on issues related to women and the “feminization” of the HIV/AIDS epidemic.

Kathleen holds a Ph.D. in Political Science (Fordham University), and a Masters in Public Health (Columbia University).

Jess Dannhauser

Jess Dannhauser is the President & CEO of Graham Windham, a mission-driven organization focused on building the foundation for success in life with NYC children and youth, in close partnership with families and communities. Graham Windham serves approximately 4,500 children and their families each year.

Graham, including the affiliated Greenburgh Graham UFSD, is focused on achieving its vision where each of its children has a safe loving permanent family and a living-wage career, no matter the challenges of their early life. The Graham team is employing evidence-informed practices and curricula, integrating its programs to create a holistic and continuous community of care, and innovating to provide opportunity to thrive for kids and families.

Mr. Dannhauser earned his MSW at University of California, Berkeley and his BA at Duke University. He is married to the Rev. Adrian Dannhauser. Adrian and Jess are the proud parents of their lovely daughter, Callaway.

Angela Diaz, MD, PhD, MPH

Angela Diaz, MD, PhD, MPH is the Jean C. and James W. Crystal Professor, Department of Pediatrics and Department of Environmental Medicine and Public Health, at the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai. After earning her medical degree at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, she completed a Master in Public Health from Harvard University and a PhD in Epidemiology from Columbia University.

Dr. Diaz is the Director of the Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center, a unique program that provides comprehensive, interdisciplinary, integrated, medical care, sexual and reproductive health, mental health, dental and optical services to young people. Under her leadership the Center has become one of the largest adolescent-specific health centers in the U.S., serving more than 11,000 young people every year—for free. The Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center is a major training site in the field of adolescent health and medicine, with research funded by NIH.

Dr. Diaz is active in public policy and advocacy in the U.S. and has conducted many international health projects in Asia, Central and South America, Europe and Africa. She is a frequent speaker at conferences throughout the country and around the world.

Ashby Dodge, LCSW

Ashby Dodge is the Chief Clinical Officer at The Trevor Project—the leading national organization providing crisis intervention and suicide prevention services to lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and questioning (LGBTQ) young people under the age of 25. Ms. Dodge oversees all of Trevor's Crisis Services, including the 24/7 Trevor Lifeline, TrevorChat and TrevorText; Trevor's education and training programs, and clinical supervision. Ms. Dodge assumes responsibility for a broad range of programs and projects, including professional communications, development of the crisis services department, and oversight of selected staff, clinicians and social work interns within the Program Department.

Ms. Dodge also runs a small private practice in New York City, focusing additionally on sexual assault, substance abuse treatment and couples/individual counseling. Prior to her work at The Trevor Project, she worked in various mental health settings, focusing on young professionals, couples and LGBTQ youth—with specialties in substance abuse treatment, sexual assault/domestic violence survivors, and at-risk, inner city high school students.

Tenaz H. Dubash

Ms. Tenaz H. Dubash is a Victim Assistance Specialist at Homeland Security Investigations (HSI) and works in the New York City area. Her duties include coordinating services for victims of human trafficking, child exploitation and victims of all other federal crimes in the Manhattan, Long Island, JFK, and Castle Point offices. She works closely with Homeland Security Agents; Prosecutors from the Department of Justice, and other Federal, State, and Local law enforcement officials. She also works with Non-Governmental organizations to coordinate social-services for victims of federal crimes.

Additionally, Ms. Dubash is responsible for developing appropriate training materials and conducting trainings for both law enforcement and NGO members. She has had the opportunity to travel with the State Department to Botswana, Belize, Budapest, Brazil, Ecuador, Haiti, Oman and Thailand to conduct trainings for members of the International law enforcement community as well as service providers.

Before working at DHS, Ms. Dubash worked as an Intensive Case Manager at Safe Horizon where she worked directly with victims of human trafficking. Prior to that she worked as a Domestic Violence Counselor at New York Asian Women's Center where she used her Hindi, Gujarati and Urdu language skills to advocate on behalf of South-Asian victims of domestic violence. Ms. Dubash has a Bachelor's degree from Cornell University and a Masters from Syracuse University.

Nicole Epps, MBA

Epps has been a non-profit leader in the anti-trafficking and street affected, vulnerable youth population, both domestically and internationally.

Epps is the former Associate Director of Court Appointed Special Advocates of Morris and Sussex Counties, where she implemented and managed community outreach for teens in foster care. Prior to CASA, Epps led the U.S. office of anti-trafficking organization Apne Aap based in India. She was charged with expanding Apne Aap's community programs to save the lives of human trafficking minority females throughout India. At Safe Horizon, the largest victim services organization in New York, Epps created, implemented and managed Team Horizon, the first grassroots initiative of Safe Horizon.

Epps is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. She received her MBA from the University of Georgia, Terry School of Business. She is pursuing her MSW at Rutgers University School of Social Work.

Marty Feinman, Esq.

Marty Feinman is the Juvenile Justice Coordinator and Trainer for the Juvenile Rights Practice of the Legal Aid Society in New York

City. In addition to training staff at the Legal Aid Society, Marty has provided trainings for other organizations in New York State as well as at the National Juvenile Defender Center and the National Association of Counsel for Children. While at Legal Aid, Marty has also served as the Attorney In Charge of the Brooklyn office of The Juvenile Rights Practice where he managed a multi-disciplinary staff of almost 100 professionals representing children in Child Welfare and Juvenile Delinquency proceedings. Prior to that, Marty was a Staff Attorney at Legal Aid's Criminal Defense Division. Before attending law school, Marty received an MSW and spent several years first as a therapist doing individual, group and family therapy and then as Program Director of the Adolescent Unit at a large psychiatric facility in Syracuse, NY. Marty is on the Advisory Board of the Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center and also on the Board of PLOT (Preparing Leaders of Tomorrow), a mentoring organization for at risk youth.

Vincent J. Felitti, MD

Vincent J. Felitti, MD is a 1962 graduate of the Johns Hopkins Medical School. He is an internist who, subsequent to being Post

Surgeon at the US Army Pine Bluff Arsenal, completed his training at Johns Hopkins and the University of Maryland and started as an infectious disease physician in 1968 at Kaiser Permanente in San Diego and then in 1975 founded the Department of Preventive Medicine; he served as the Chief of Preventive Medicine until 2001. In that setting, Dr. Felitti became co-Principal Investigator, with Robert F. Anda MD at the Centers for Disease Control, of the Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACE) Study, ongoing collaborative research between the Kaiser Permanente Medical Care Program and the CDC. The ACE Study with its more than eighty publications explores prospectively and retrospectively in a 17,000-person cohort the profound relationship of ten categories of adverse life experiences in childhood to health, well-being, disease, and death decades later.

Under Dr. Felitti's leadership over the years, the Department of Preventive Medicine provided comprehensive, biopsychosocial medical evaluation to assess the health risks and disease burden of over one million individual adults. Major health-risk abatement programs were developed for obesity, smoking, and stress, as well as population-based screening for the genetic disease, Hemochromatosis. He is Clinical Professor of Medicine at the University of California and a Fellow of the American College of Physicians. He is Senior Editor of The Permanente Journal and on the International Editorial Board of the Swiss medical journal, Trauma und Gewalt. Dr. Felitti has served on advisory committees of the Institute of Medicine, the American Psychiatric Association, on the Committee of the Secretary of Health and Human Services for Healthy People 2020, and as a member of the Advisory Committee on Women's Services at SAMHSA.

David Finkelhor, PhD

David Finkelhor is Director of Crimes against Children Research Center, Professor of Sociology, and University Professor at the University of New Hampshire. His core areas of interest have been in child maltreatment and family violence, dating back to 1977. He is perhaps best known for his conceptual and empirical work on the problem of child sexual abuse, including prevalence surveys, his Four Pre-conditions Model of Sexual Abuse, and his Four Traumagenic Dynamics Model of sexual abuse trauma. He also helped develop the concept of "poly-victimization." In addition, he has done extensive research about child homicide, missing and abducted children, bullying, and Internet victimization. In his recent work, for example, his book, Child Victimization (Oxford University Press, 2008), he has tried to unify and integrate knowledge about all the diverse forms of child victimization in a field he has termed Developmental Victimology. This book received the Daniel Schneider Child Welfare Book of the Year award in 2009. He has also written extensively about trends in child maltreatment. All together he is editor and author of 12 books and over 200 journal articles and book chapters. He has received grants from the National Institute of Mental Health, the National Center on Child Abuse and Neglect, and the US Department of Justice, and a variety of other sources. In 1994, he was given the Distinguished Child Abuse Professional Award by the American Professional Society on the Abuse of Children, in 2004 he was given the Significant Achievement Award from the Association for the Treatment of Sexual Abusers, in 2005 he and his colleagues received the Child Maltreatment Article of the Year award, in 2007 he was elected as a Fellow of the American Society of Criminology, and in 2014 he was awarded the National Scientific Impact Award from the Kempe Center for the Prevention and Treatment of Child Abuse and Neglect.

Hans Forsberg

Hans Forsberg is Professor in neuroscience at Karolinska Institutet and Consultant in neuropaediatrics at Astrid Lindgren

Children's Hospital in Stockholm, Sweden. He is past dean and past vice president of Karolinska Institutet and past member of the Nobel Committee for Physiology or Medicine. He has also been head of the Department of Paediatrics at Astrid Lindgren Children's Hospital. His research has focused on children with neurodevelopmental disorders; from translational research on underlying mechanisms of motor and cognitive dysfunctions, to clinical research aiming at developing new methods for assessment and intervention. He has published more than 200 original research articles. Recently, he has shifted focus towards the global situation for children with developmental delay and disabilities, in particular in low and middle income countries. He is president of the International Alliance of Academies of Childhood Disability and past chairman of the European Academy of Childhood Disability.

Tina Frundt

Tina Frundt has been actively raising awareness of the commercial sexual exploitation of children (CSEC) since 2000. A high profile national advocate on the issue of domestic sex trafficking and a survivor of CSEC. Ms. Frundt is deeply committed to helping other children and women who are living through experiences similar to her own. She has been featured on numerous national shows and publications, including the OWN Network's Our America with Lisa Ling: 3AM Girls, which featured an undercover look into sex trafficking in Washington, DC, the CNN Freedom Project, and in 2016 the Whitney Young Unsung Heroes award by the Urban Institute. In 2010, she became the first U.S. citizen to receive the Free the Slaves Freedom Awards-Frederick Douglas Award, which recognizes survivors of sex trafficking who use their life in freedom to help others. In 2016 she was appointed by President Obama to the First White House Survivor Advisory Board. In 2017, Tina received the Lois Haight Award of Excellence and Innovation after being nominated by Representative Ted Poe. Additionally, in October of 2017 Ms. Frundt was invited to join the faculty team of the National Judicial Institute on Domestic Child Sex Trafficking (NJIDCST); she is the first non-lawyer to be a part of this distinguished group of legal professionals. In January 2018, she was awarded the Community Service Award by the Washington Bar Association Education Foundation for her selfless service and advocacy for sex trafficked youth in DC, Maryland and Virginia.

Ms. Frundt trains law enforcement, other non-profit groups and social service agencies to locate missing youth and provide trauma recovery resources to victims. She is a member of the Washington, DC, State of Maryland and Prince George's County Human Trafficking Task Force and was appointed by the Governor of Maryland to the Safe Harbor work group. She has testified before U.S. Congress about her own experiences and the need for greater protection and services for trafficked persons. She is the founder and executive director of Courtney's House, which provides direct services for domestic sex trafficked youth, ages 11-21 in Prince George's County and the Washington, DC metro area. Since its inception, Courtney's House and Ms. Frundt have helped over 650 survivor's transition out of their trafficking situation.

Chandré Gould

Chandré Gould is a senior research fellow in the Justice and Violence Prevention Programme at the Institute for Security Studies (ISS). Since 2006 her work has focused on violence prevention and criminal justice in South Africa. In 2015 she completed a multi-year life history study of violent offenders. The results of this study were published in Beaten Bad: the life stories of violent offenders (Institute for Security Studies, 2016). In 2009 she edited a book on the criminal justice system in South Africa Criminal (In)Justice: A civil society perspective. Since 2008 she has played a leading role in a community-based organisation, the Seven Passes Initiative, that works to prevent violence through providing after-school programmes, youth development programmes and parenting programmes. She is currently working with Associate Professor Cathy Ward (University of Cape Town) and the Seven Passes Initiative to assess the impact of delivering four positive parenting programmes along with a social activation process in the community served by the organisation. She is the convenor of the National Dialogue Forum for evidence-based programmes to prevent violence against women and children in South Africa. The forum brings together government departments, academics and NGOs in a long-term process that aims to inform and support the scale-up of evidence-based violence prevention programmes nationally. These projects are undertaken in partnership with the World Childhood Foundation.

Katherine Teets Grimm, MD

Katherine Teets Grimm, MD, has been the Medical Director of The New York Center for Children since January 1997, following a long career as a full-time faculty member at the Mount Sinai Medical Center. Dr. Grimm has been involved in the field of child protection since the mid-1970s.

She was the director of the Mount Sinai Pediatric Emergency Room for 20 years. She is a founding member of child protection committees in School Districts 2 and 4, serves on numerous city-wide child abuse task forces and committees, and is a frequent lecturer on child abuse and neglect.

Dr. Grimm has developed a mentoring/elective program for pediatric residents and medical students at The New York Center for Children entitled “Child Abuse Identification and Treatment.” The elective includes multiple site visits throughout the City to child protection agencies such as Family Court, the District Attorney’s Office, preventive agencies, foster care agencies and child advocacy centers.

David A. Hansell, Esq.

David A. Hansell was appointed Commissioner of the NYC Administration for Children’s Services in February 2017. Commissioner

Hansell has committed his career to serving vulnerable communities and expanding opportunity. An accomplished manager, he has decades of experience in social services work across the public, private, and non-profit sectors.

Over the course of his career, he has served as a consultant to non-profit, government, and philanthropic organizations on a diverse array of health and social services policy and advocacy issues, most recently as Head of KPMG’s Human & Social Services Centre of Excellence. From 2009–2011, he served as Acting Assistant Secretary and Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary for the Administration for Children and Families in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). At HHS, Commissioner Hansell helped oversee a division with an approximately $50 billion annual budget, with responsibilities including child welfare, economic support, early childhood education, and special population programs. He has also served in prior governmental positions in New York City and New York State.

Commissioner Hansell is a graduate of Yale Law School and Haverford College.

Irfan Hasan

Irfan Hasan directs The New York Community Trust’s Healthy Lives grant program. Following September 11, 2001, Irfan also oversaw The Trust’s September 11th Fund’s $51 million health and mental health grant program. Previously, as Vice President at Greater Boston Rehabilitation Services, he oversaw employment programs for people with disabilities. Irfan is a member of CharitySTRONG’s Board; Philanthropy New York’s Health Policy Work Group; the American Public Health Association; and a Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine. He served as a Mayoral appointee to New York City’s Department of Health and Mental Hygiene’s Community Service Board; Board Chair of Disability Funders Network; a member of Grantmakers in Health’s Behavioral Health Network; and Co-Chair of the United World College Student Selection Committee. Irfan earned degrees from Northeastern University and New York University.

Lyndon Haviland, MPH, DRPH

Lyndon Haviland holds a masters and doctorate degree in public health from Columbia University's Joseph L. Mailman School of Public Health, and has completed Advanced Management & Leadership training at Harvard Business School. In 1993, she was awarded The John and Kathleen Gorman Public Health Humanitarian Award from Columbia University.

With more than 25 years' experience in domestic and international public health, Dr. Haviland has worked with a wide range of organizations including UNAIDS, the UN Department of Public Information, the UN Foundation, UN Women, the UN Development Program, the World Health Organization (WHO), the International Organization for Migration (IOM), the International Medical Corps, the CUNY School of Public Health, the American Public Health Association (APHA), Lutheran Immigration and Refugee Services (LIRS), the American Legacy Foundation, Earth Echo International, GAVI, Darkness to Light, Policy Wisdom, Forest Trends, and the Aspen Institute.

Highly respected as a leader, moderator, speaker, and fundraiser, Lyndon has advised heads of state and agency leaders on maternal and child health, access to vaccines, sexual and reproductive health, tobacco control, and health promotion/disease prevention. She is a passionate advocate for human rights and is dedicated to bringing individuals and organizations together to achieve lasting social change.

Jamie M. Howard, PhD

Jamie M. Howard, PhD, is a clinical psychologist in the Anxiety Disorders Center at the Child Mind Institute and the director of the Center's Trauma and Resilience Service. She specializes in the evaluation and treatment of anxiety and mood disorders in children and adolescents, and has expertise in treating post-traumatic stress and adjustment disorders across the lifespan.

Dr. Howard has extensive experience providing cognitive behavioral therapy (CBT) to children, teens and young adults suffering from a range of anxiety disorders, depression and post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD). She has received specialized training in several innovative treatments, including trauma focused-CBT, cognitive processing therapy and dialectical behavior therapy (DBT).

Dr. Howard's past work includes developing and testing programs to help returning veterans and their family members, serving as a crisis counselor in the aftermath of the World Trade Center attacks and providing consultation to staff at a preschool for at-risk children. She has co-authored scholarly articles for several journals, including Psychotherapy and Journal of Traumatic Stress, as well as book chapters on helping children and families following trauma exposure.

Michael Johnson

Michael Johnson is Youth Protection Director for the Boy Scouts of America (BSA), where he leads the organization's efforts to continually enhance youth protection policies and procedures, and ensure the safest possible environment for its youth members. An internationally-recognized expert on child abuse detection and prevention, and a 28-year law enforcement veteran, Johnson has overseen youth protection for BSA since 2010. His team works every day to ensure sustained vigilance on youth safety issues across the organization through mandatory policies and procedures, including training and ongoing engagement with staff, volunteers and members. Johnson also works to strengthen the organization's policies and ensure they are in line with, if not ahead of, society's knowledge of abuse and best practices for prevention. Prior to joining BSA, Johnson served as Lead Child Abuse Investigator for the Plano Police Department. He holds a bachelor's degree in criminal justice with a minor in psychology from Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos, Texas.

René S. Kahn, MD, PhD

Dr. René S. Kahn is the Esther and Joseph Klingenstein Professor and System Chair of Psychiatry at the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai. Dr.

Kahn has published over 800 research papers and in 2015 and 2016 was named Thomson Reuters' highly cited researcher, representing 'some of the world's most influential scientific minds'. He has served on neuroscience grant review boards in the Netherlands as well as those of the United Kingdom and Germany. He received several honors, such as a Fulbright Scholarship, membership of the Royal Netherlands Academy of Arts and Sciences, the ECNP Neuropsychopharmacology Award, an honorary doctorate at Semmelweis University in Budapest, Hungary and the lifetime achievement award of the Netherlands Psychiatric Association. He is Honorary Lifetime Professor at Jilin University in Changchun, China. He was Treasurer and Vice-President of the European College of Neuropsychopharmacology and is currently past-President of The Schizophrenia International Research Society. He is a fellow of the American College of Neuropsychopharmacology.

Barry Koch

Barry Koch is an independent consultant and private attorney recognized internationally as an expert in the field of anti-money laundering compliance and risk management. Mr. Koch most recently served as an Assistant District Attorney and Counsel to the Investigation Division in the New York County District Attorney's Office. He is a founding member of the US and European Bankers Alliances Against Human Trafficking, and is a member of the Human Rights First anti-trafficking ambassadors campaign.

He is a sought-after speaker at industry, government and law enforcement conferences, having presented to groups including the United States Departments of Justice, Homeland Security, State and Treasury; the IRS and DEA; members of the intelligence and diplomatic communities; the FRBNY; members of Congress; and regulators, legislators, international organizations and FIUs around the world.

Mr. Koch is Chairman of the Advisory Board of the Association of Certified Financial Crime Specialists, is a former Co-Chairman of the New York Chapter of the Association of Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialists and a former Chairman of The Consular Law Society, Inc. He is an adjunct professor at Cardozo Law School, where he teaches Global Corporate Compliance to 2L, 3L and LLM students.

Dorchen A. Leidholdt, Esq.

Dorchen A. Leidholdt has been a leader in the movement to end gender-based violence since the late 1970's. After a decade of organizing against sexual violence and exploitation, she helped found, in 1988, the first international non-governmental organization dedicated to combating sex trafficking and the commercial sexual exploitation of women and girls, the Coalition Against Trafficking in Women, and currently serves on its board. Since 1994 she has directed the Center for Battered Women's Legal Services at Sanctuary for Families, the largest dedicated legal services program for survivors of gender violence in the country. Under her leadership the Center has provided life changing representation for tens of thousands of abuse survivors in family law, criminal, civil rights, public benefits, housing, and immigration cases, and advanced policy and legislative changes that further survivors' rights and hold their abusers accountable. She has lectured internationally on gender violence and published numerous articles, book chapters, and anthologies on the subject. A former public defender, Ms. Leidholdt recently spearheaded and co-chairs the Incarcerated Gender Violence Survivors Initiative. For the past 15 years she has taught Domestic Violence and the Law at Columbia Law School.

Timothy F. Lisante, PhD

Timothy F. Lisante, PhD has worked within the NYC Public Schools system for the past 40 years. He has a Bachelor's degree and Master's degree in special education and a doctorate in education.

Dr. Lisante is currently the Superintendent of District 79 with oversight for 12 alternative programs including HSE/GED prep, Career & Technical Education, Early Childcare Education with Student Parents, Residential and Youth Justice Education and Treatment.

Since 1988, Dr. Lisante he has been a leader in alternative education. He has served as a teacher, assistant principal, and principal at the schools on Rikers Island.

Dr. Lisante is a member of the NYS Alternative Education Steering Committee, the NYS Alcohol & Substance Abuse Providers Youth Committee and the NYC Juvenile Justice Advisory Board. He is the Correctional Education Association's Jails Education Chairperson and is a member of the Mayor's School Climate & Discipline Committee.

Dr. Lisante also is an adjunct assistant professor teaching graduate courses in special education at the City University of New York (CUNY) at Brooklyn College and Education Leadership courses at the Center for Integrated Teacher Education (CITE) at the College of Saint Rose.

Rachel Lloyd

In 1998, Rachel Lloyd founded Girls Educational and Mentoring Services (GEMS). She was driven by the lack of services for commercially sexually exploited and domestically trafficked girls and young women and the incredible stigma and punishment they faced from service providers, law enforcement, the courts, their families and society. Twenty years later, her impact on the issue of commercial sexual exploitation and domestic trafficking has helped shift the perception of trafficked girls from criminals to victims and now to survivors and leaders. GEMS is now the largest service provider of its kind in the nation providing intensive services and support.

Rachel's advocacy ensured the passage of New York State's Safe Harbour for Sexually Exploited Children Act, which in 2008 became the first law in the nation to protect and not punish trafficked and exploited youth. Since then 13 other states have followed suit.

Nationally recognized for her innovative work in transforming the movement's understanding of survivor leadership, she continues to pave the way for survivor leaders across the country. She was honored as one of the "50 Women Who Change the World" by Ms. Magazine and recognized with numerous awards. Rachel received her Bachelor's degree in Psychology from Marymount Manhattan College and her Master's in Applied Urban Anthropology from the City College of New York.

Beatriz Luna, PhD

Beatriz Luna, PhD is the Staunton professor of Psychiatry and Pediatrics and Professor of Psychology at the University of Pittsburgh.

She is the founder and Director of the Laboratory for Neurocognitive Development, as well as the founder and president of the Flux Society for Developmental Cognitive Neuroscience.

Dr. Luna studies the brain mechanisms that underlie cognitive development during the adolescent period to inform decision-making and vulnerability to the emergence of mental illness. Her research uses multimodal neuroimaging methods that probe brain function, structure, network organization, and neurotransmitter functions. Her findings have led to an influential model of adolescent development indicating that the brain systems supporting executive processes are available by adolescence, but are driven by neural processes supporting motivation. Her model emphasizes that adolescence is a critical period of brain specialization in which adult modes of operation are established. Dr. Luna has published over a hundred peer-reviewed articles, review papers and chapters. She has received numerous awards, notably the Presidential Early Career Award in Science and Engineering. Her research has been continuously supported by the National Institutes of Mental Health, and has informed US Supreme Court briefs regarding extended sentencing in the juvenile justice system.

Yamile M. Martí Haidar, PhD, LMSW, MA

Yamile M. Martí Haidar, PhD, LMSW, MA, has been teaching at Columbia School of Social Work since 2011. She has worked at the individual, community and policy levels and within mental health organizations, schools, community centers, and government agencies. Her clinical experience ranges from issues of substance abuse, the child welfare system, therapy and group work with families and children, in the public-school system, with cancer patients, abused women and abused/neglected children, among others.

Dr. Martí has conducted research on the implementation and evaluation of a teacher training intervention for empowerment, as well as, a community empowerment intervention in Puerto Rico. She has collaborated in a five-year randomized control trial funded by the National Institute of Mental Health designed to compare the effectiveness of Interpersonal therapy versus Complicated Grief treatment. Dr. Martí collaborated in a psycho-education intervention for young women who are pregnant and in foster care and conducted a qualitative study on the experiences of foster care mothers. Dr. Martí's research areas include the development of resiliency and coping skills for children and women in crisis or facing adversity, the implementation and evaluation of interventions that promote positive mental health in children and women and the role of psychosocial and cultural factors on mental health.

Dr. Martí has served as a consultant for UNICEF and has taken part in several projects internationally in Jordan, Cuba and Chile.

Bruce McEwen, PhD

McEwen (PhD, Cell Biology, 1964, Rockefeller University) is a member of the National Academies of Sciences and Medicine. He was President of the Society for Neuroscience in 1997–98. His laboratory discovered adrenal steroid receptors in hippocampus that provided a gateway to the ongoing discovery that circulating stress, sex and other hormones affect cognition, mood and other neural processes and that there is structural and functional plasticity of the adult as well as developing brain. As a member of the MacArthur Foundation Research Network on Socioeconomic Status and Health, he helped to formulate concepts of “allostatic load and overload”. He is a member of the National Scientific Council on the Developing Child which focuses on biological embedding of early life experiences and promoting healthy brain development. He is the co-author of a book with science writer, Elizabeth Lasley, for a lay audience called “The End of Stress as We Know It”, available as an eBook.

Hon. Edwina G. Mendelson

In 2017, Deputy Chief Administrative Judge Mendelson was appointed to head the newly expanded Office for Justice Initiatives, which is tasked with ensuring meaningful access to justice for all New Yorkers in civil, criminal and family courts, regardless of income, background, or special needs. She directs several court initiatives, including the implementation of the new law raising the age of criminal responsibility in New York State.

Judge Mendelson also presides over the Youth Part in NY County Supreme Court, where she hears cases of children charged with violent felonies under the Juvenile Offender law. Judge Mendelson was the first staff attorney of the Sanctuary for Families Center for Battered Women's Legal Services. She became a Family Court Judge in 2003, a Queens County Supervising Family Court Judge in 2008, and a year later, she was elevated to Administrative Judge of all New York City Family Courts.

Susan Morley

Susan Morley is the Senior Advisor for Investigations to the Commissioner of New York City's Administration for Children's Services (ACS) since 2006. She developed and oversees the Investigative Consultation Program where retired NYPD Detectives assist

CPS on complex cases. She also oversees the Instant Response Team Program where ACS and NYPD respond jointly on the most serious cases and has led the Child Trafficking work at ACS. Prior to her assignment to ACS she was the Commanding Officer of the New York City Police Department's Special Victims Division where she was responsible for sex crimes and child abuse investigations city-wide. She spent 21 years on the NYPD with the majority of her work supervising sex crimes and child abuse investigations. She also commanded the NYPD Special Victims Liaison Unit where she worked on many policies, laws and trainings to improve the City's response to child abuse and sex crimes investigations. She was instrumental in the development of the co-located Child Advocacy Centers in New York City and one of the original authors of the Instant Response Team Protocol. She is a graduate of John Jay College, the FBI's National Academy and Columbia University's School of Business, Police Management Institute. Susan has been honored for her work to help victims by Mount Sinai's Sexual Assault and Violence Intervention program, St. Luke's Rape Crisis program and is a recipient of the Commissioner's Child Advocacy Award.

Katherine E. Mullen, Esq.

Katherine "Cait" Mullen is an attorney with the Juvenile Rights Practice of The Legal Aid Society in New York City, the nation's largest and oldest provider of legal services.

The Juvenile Rights Practice represents children and youth who appear before the New York City Family Court in abuse, neglect, juvenile delinquency and other proceedings affecting children's rights and welfare. In addition to providing direct representation to youth in Family Court proceedings, Cait has been involved in legislative reform and advocacy for commercially sexually exploited youth. Cait was instrumental in the drafting and passage of the Safe Harbor Act, the first law in the United States to protect the domestic child victims of commercial sexual exploitation. Cait is a member of numerous task forces on sexually exploited youth, and works on legislative reform with advocacy groups nationwide. In recognition of her work, Cait received the Outstanding Legal Advocate of 2007 award from the National Association of Counsel for Children (NACC.) Cait has conducted numerous training sessions nationwide on the representation of sexually exploited youth, and has frequently provided expert testimony to the New York State Assembly and Senate, and the New York City Council. Cait has been a faculty presenter at several NACC National Child Welfare, Juvenile and Family Law Conferences; faculty presenter at National Juvenile Defender Summits; the Yale Law School Rebellious Lawyering Conference reblaw 2103; and the Freedom Network 11th Annual Conference. With Rachel Lloyd, she is co-author of a chapter in The Lawyer's Manual on Human Trafficking, published in 2011.

Julie Novak

Julie Novak has served as Big Brothers Big Sisters of America's leading expert on child safety and youth protection for the past thirteen years, leading the nationwide advancement of effective child abuse prevention strategies across 2,000 communities. She's provided training and consultation to thousands of professionals. She serves as a National Board Member of the U.S. Center for Safe Sport and as President of the National Coalition to Prevent Child Sexual Abuse & Exploitation. She's served on advisory groups for the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children and Vice President Biden's Gun Violence Task Force, in addition to serving in numerous international, national, statewide and local leadership and advisory capacities. She holds a BBA in Economics with a focus on public policy from the University of Iowa. She lives with her husband and two dogs on a horse ranch in Wisconsin, where they raised their three successful daughters.

Hara Ntalla, MEd/CSE, LP, LP

Hara Ntalla, Clinical Director at the Seleni Institute — a global nonprofit organization dedicated to supporting the emotional health of individuals and families during the family building years. Mrs. Ntalla is a graduate of the adult psychoanalysis LP Program and an advanced candidate at the Training Institute of the Contemporary Freudian Society of New York. As a psychoanalyst, she brings an expertise in infant-family mental health and development, depression, anxiety, loss and grief.

Mrs. Ntalla has worked with women, men and their families and specializes on dyadic work, child and adult attachment disorders, couple's therapy, and early trauma. She also treats patients with a wide range of mental health challenges, including anxiety, addictions, and psychosomatic disorders. She has been a clinical education professor at Brooklyn College's Early Childhood and Art Education Department for 12 years and worked in the Early Intervention and Early Childhood Special Education fields for over 15 years.

Anne Nucci-Sack, MD

As a board certified physician in Pediatrics and Adolescent Medicine and Medical Director at Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center (MSAHC), Dr. Nucci-Sack has over 30 years of experience (15 at MSAHC) in Pediatrics and Adolescent Medicine as a clinician, administrator and clinician educator. Dr. Nucci-Sack received her MD from New York Medical College and did her Pediatric Residency training at Jacobi Medical Center and the Albert Einstein College of Medicine and her Adolescent Medicine Fellowship training at Montefiore Hospital — both in the Bronx. Prior to joining the MSAHC, Dr. Nucci-Sack served as the Director of Adolescent Medicine at Bronx-Lebanon Hospital Center from 1992–2002 and was also the Associate Chair of Pediatrics from 1998–2002.

Dr. Nucci-Sack continues to provide comprehensive medical, sexual and reproductive health care services to inner-city adolescents. Her focus is on quality of care and excellence in clinical service. Dr. Nucci-Sack is also keenly interested in integration of research into day to day practice. Dr. Nucci-Sack has served as a Co-I on the MSAHC HPV study and has contributed to its success in meeting study aims.

Ana Oliveira, MA

Ana Oliveira is President and CEO of The New York Women's Foundation, the largest women's fund in the country. Since 2006, Ana has led the increase of The Foundation's grantmaking from $1.7M to $8M today. Focusing on economic security, safety and health, in 31 years, The Foundation has distributed over $66 million to over 350 organizations. Ana has led critical cross-sectoral partnerships to advance women's rights as a proud co-chair of The New York City Council Speaker's Young Women's Initiative and a Commissioner of Human Rights for the NYC Commission on Human Rights. She also sits on the Independent Commission to Study Criminal Justice Reform in NYC. She has held key roles as a CEO of the Gay Men's Health Crisis, VP of Programs at Osborne Association, and Lincoln Medical and Mental Health Center Substance Abuse Clinic. Ana attained her MA in Medical Anthropology and a PhD (hon) from the New School for Social Research.

Alpana Patel, LCSW, MA

Alpana Patel, LCSW, MA, is Program Coordinator and Clinician for the Mount Sinai SAVI Program based at Elmhurst Hospital where she provides services for survivors of sexual assault, child sexual abuse, human trafficking, and intimate partner violence. Alpana has an MSW from Columbia University and an MA in Sustainable International Development from Brandeis University. She has also completed post graduate training in Integrative Trauma Studies at the National Institute of Psychotherapy. She has substantial experience working on issues of gender-based violence in the United States and abroad, has been working in the anti-violence field for more than 10 years, and is fluent in the South Asian languages of Hindi, Urdu, and Gujarati.

University and an MA in Sustainable International Development from Brandeis University. She has also completed post graduate training in Integrative Trauma Studies at the National Institute of Psychotherapy. She has substantial experience working on issues of gender-based violence in the United States and abroad, has been working in the anti-violence field for more than 10 years, and is fluent in the South Asian languages of Hindi, Urdu, and Gujarati.

Ken Peake, DSW

Ken Peake is Chief Operating Officer and Assistant Director, Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center (MSAHC) in New York City, the largest freestanding, comprehensive adolescent-specific health center in the U.S. Dr. Peake was MSAHC's Director of Mental Health from 1990 until 2002 and is an Assistant Professor in the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai. He has his Master's Degree in Social Work from Hunter College and his Doctorate in Social Welfare from the Graduate Center at the City University of New York. Dr. Peake has numerous peer reviewed publications and book chapters related to the well-being of inner city adolescents, as well as to organizational learning and capacity building. His book, co-written with other Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center staff, What Kids Need to talk About (Haworth Press, 2006), is a series of studies of the environmental and behavioral factors that affect adolescents and their health, along with engagement strategies in mental health.

Professor in the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai. He has his Master's Degree in Social Work from Hunter College and his Doctorate in Social Welfare from the Graduate Center at the City University of New York.

Dr. Peake has numerous peer reviewed publications and book chapters related to the well-being of inner city adolescents, as well as to organizational learning and capacity building. His book, co-written with other Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center staff, What Kids Need to talk About (Haworth Press, 2006), is a series of studies of the environmental and behavioral factors that affect adolescents and their health, along with engagement strategies in mental health.

John Pickett, MSW

John Pickett has been the Senior Director of Safe Horizon's Manhattan Child Advocacy Center's for the last four years and Director of Forensic and Clinical Services for the five years prior. He holds a Master's degree in Forensic Psychology and a Master's in Social Work. He has twenty years of diverse practice in the social service field, both local and abroad. It includes a myriad of experiences as a leader, trainer, forensic interviewer, and clinician specializing in the areas of child abuse and trauma.

Malva Rabinowitz

Malva Rabinowitz is a retired senior partner (principal) of Deloitte Consulting LLP with 40 years of leadership and consulting experience including board, management and client service. She has deep experience working with organizations in transition and strategic business planning and is a certified executive coach. She has testified as an expert witness in reorganization litigation.

Ms. Rabinowitz serves as President, Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center Advisory Board and on the Boards of American Heart Association NYC and Global Business Coalition on Health (GBCHealth) and chair of GBCHealth Audit and Finance Committee. She served on the Boards of Deloitte & Touche USA, Deloitte Consulting Holdings USA, Xavier University and the Supervisory Board of DCG SC.

Malva earned Masters of Engineering and Bachelor of Science degrees in Management Engineering and Bachelor of Science in Anthropology & Sociology from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. She is married and has three adult children.

Laura B. Riso, MA

Victim Specialist Laura Riso began her career with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in 1998 and has been serving in her current position in the New York Field Office since 2006. Ms. Riso provides direct assistance to federal and local crime victims who have suffered direct or threatened physical, emotional, psychological, or pecuniary harm as the result of violent crime, severe trauma, and acts of terrorism, cyber-crime, and fraud. She provides comprehensive services to victims with special needs such as children, the elderly, victims with physical or cognitive disabilities, sexual assault survivors, and linguistic and cultural minorities. Victim Specialist Laura Riso earned her BA in Psychology from New York University and her MA in Forensic Psychology from John Jay College of Criminal Justice.

Janet F. Rosenzweig MS, PhD, MPA

Dr. Rosenzweig has served for more than 30 years in public and non-profit human services, focusing on child and family wellbeing with a specialty in child sexual abuse. Rosenzweig holds a BS in Family Studies and an MS in Health Education from The Pennsylvania State University, a PhD in Social Work from Rutgers University and an MPA from Harvard's Kennedy School of Government.

She is currently the Executive Director of The American Professional Society on the Abuse of Children (APSAC) and a lecturer at The Fels Institute of Government at the University of Pennsylvania. She is committed to promoting policies and practices that promote sexual health and safety, with a special focus on supporting parents to be the primary sexuality educators of their children and has authored The Sex-Wise Parent (Skyhorse 2012) and The Parents Guide to Talking about Sex (Skyhorse 2015).

Richard Rothman, Esq.

Richard Rothman is Senior Counsel of Weil, Gotshal & Manges. For more than 35 years, he has successfully litigated and tried his clients' most complex disputes in courts and arbitrations around the country. Mr. Rothman has long been recognized as a leading litigator by legal and media publications, including Benchmark Litigation, The Best Lawyers in America, and The Legal 500 US.

He is the lead author and editor of Litigating Complex Cases: From the Inside and Out, and numerous articles. Throughout his career, he has served in leadership roles of various public service organizations, including as President of the Second Circuit's Federal Bar Foundation; Chairman of the Federal Bar Council's Second Circuit Courts and Public Service Committees; President of Volunteer Lawyers for the Arts; and Trustee and Counsel to the Board of the American Red Cross of Greater New York. He currently serves as a Vice-Chair of the Board of Graham Windham, the nation's most long-standing non-sectarian child welfare agency.

Rich now devotes much of his time to public interest work, including advising non-profit organizations and assisting victims of domestic violence and human trafficking, disadvantaged children, and incarcerated women and men. Rich serves as Co-Chair of the Gender Violence Survivors Initiative. His writing on an array of subjects can be found at <http://www.richrothman.com/>.

Joanna Rubinstein, DDS, PhD

In 2015, Dr. Rubinstein was appointed President & CEO of World Childhood Foundation (WCF) USA. Before joining WCF,

Dr. Rubinstein held leadership roles for a decade at the Earth Institute (EI) of Columbia University (CU) and at the United Nations. As Chief of Staff to Prof. Jeffrey

Sachs, she helped develop and lead a plethora of innovative initiatives in health, education and sustainable development, and was instrumental in the development the UN Sustainable Development Solutions Network. Currently, Dr. Rubinstein serves on several international boards and committees, including the End Violence Partnership, the UNWTO's Network on Child Protection in Travel and Tourism, and the Early Childhood Development & Peace Building Consortium. She is a former member of the World Economic Forum Global Agenda Council. Dr. Rubinstein was the Senior Associate Dean for Institutional and Global Initiatives at the Columbia University Medical Center (2002–2005), the Director for Research and Postgraduate Education at the Karolinska Institute (KI), Sweden (1999–2002), and a director at Sweden's Medical Research Council (1997–1999). She is trained as a DDS and holds a PhD and is an Associate Professor in cell and molecular biology from KI.

Jeffrey D. Sachs, PhD

Jeffrey D. Sachs is a world-renowned professor of economics, leader in sustainable development, senior UN advisor, bestselling author, and syndicated columnist whose monthly newspaper columns appear in more than 100 countries. He is the co-recipient of the 2015 Blue Planet Prize, the leading global prize for environmental leadership. He has twice been named among Time magazine's 100 most influential world leaders. He was called by the New York Times, "probably the most important economist in the world," and by Time magazine "the world's best known economist." A recent survey by The Economist ranked Professor Sachs as among the world's three most influential living economists of the past decade.

Professor Sachs serves as the Director of the Center for Sustainable Development at Columbia University. He is University Professor at Columbia University, the university's highest academic rank. During 2002 to 2016 he served as the Director of the Earth Institute. Sachs is Special Advisor to United Nations Secretary-General António Guterres on the Sustainable Development Goals, and previously advised UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon on both the Sustainable Development Goals and Millennium Development Goals and UN Secretary-General Kofi Annan on the Millennium Development Goals. He is a Distinguished Fellow of the International Institute of Applied Systems Analysis in Laxenburg, Austria.

Sachs is currently Director of the UN Sustainable Development Solutions Network under the auspices of UN Secretary-General António Guterres, and a Commissioner of the ITU/UNESCO Broadband Commission for Development. He is Chair and Founder of SDG USA, a non-governmental initiative to promote the Sustainable Development Goal concepts in the United States. Sachs is also co-founder and Chief Strategist of Millennium Promise Alliance, and was director of the Millennium Villages Project (2005–2015).

Winette Saunders, MA

For the past twenty four years, Winette Saunders has worked in the fields of higher education and social services within city government and the non-profit arena. Currently, she serves as the Deputy Commissioner for Youthful Offender Programming at the New York City Department of Correction. She joined NYC DOC in October 2007. At this present time, she co-leads the reform efforts for this target population. Her role in the transformation of the agency has led to the end of punitive segregation, increased programming, and reentry services for incarcerated youth between the ages of 16–21. Her achievements in this field have been highlighted by several media outlets including but not limited to the NY Times, NY Daily News, WPIX 11, and Fox 5. Over the last ten years, her responsibilities included assessing and strengthening the programmatic infrastructure for the inmate population as well as manage the development, implementation, and operation of the Department's discharge planning efforts. Prior to joining NYC DOC, she was responsible for identifying policy barriers and making policy recommendations to the Mayor Bloomberg administration. Prior to this role, she served as an Assistant Director of Hospitals on Rikers Island where she managed a component of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's discharge planning program for the forensic mentally ill population. She has also held positions as a Psychiatric Social Worker at Housing Works and an adjunct faculty member at CUNY's John Jay College of Criminal Justice, City University of New York's New York City Technical College, and the College of New Rochelle. She received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology with a minor in African Studies from the State University of New York at Stony Brook and a Master's Degree in Psychology from Long Island University.

Michael Sheldrick

Michael Sheldrick is Vice President of Global Policy and Government Affairs at Global Citizen, where he oversees international advocacy campaigns in support of universal sanitation, access to education, gender equality and polio eradication.

Michael oversees the policy direction of the renowned Global Citizen Festival and has worked on several campaigns in North America, Europe, India and Australia. He has worked with artists, heads of government and philanthropists including Rihanna, Beyoncé, Usher, Prime Minister Narendra Modi of India, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau of Canada and former Australian Prime Minister Julia Gillard. He has been instrumental in mobilising political and public support for the Sustainable Development Goals.

Michael's writing on these topics has been published by the Guardian, Huffington Post, The Diplomatic Courier, The Diplomat Magazine, The South China Morning Post, The West Australian, Fairfax Media and he has been interviewed by Sky News, Forbes Magazine, VICE Impact, The New Yorker, ABC and the BBC, among others. He holds degrees in law and political science from the University of Western Australia, was 2013 Young Western Australian of the Year, and has previously been listed by The Sunday Times as one of WA's 50 Best and Brightest. In 2017, Michael was named by the Secretary-General of the Commonwealth as a finalist for Young Commonwealth Person of the Year. He is also an Alternate Board Member of the Ban Ki-Moon Centre for Global Citizens. Over the last 7 years, and with the support of many of you in the room tonight, Global Citizens' worldwide campaigning efforts have resulted in $35BN of commitments that have already impacted the lives of 648 million people and are set to affect the lives of an additional 1.1 billion by the year 2030.

Ashley Smith Juarez

Ashley Smith Juarez serves as the Clinton Health Matters Initiative National Director for Community Health overseeing work to improve health and wellbeing in communities across the US. As an operating foundation, The Clinton Foundation works on issues directly or with strategic partners from the business, government, and nonprofit sectors to create economic opportunity, improve public health, and inspire civic engagement and service. Prior to joining the Foundation, Ashley served as Executive Director of The Chartrand Foundation, improving Early Childhood through grade 12 public education. After graduating with honors from Vanderbilt University, Ashley worked in teaching and dropout prevention. She is a three-time recipient of the Jesse Ball DuPont excellence in teaching award, has been named Elected Official of the year by Mental Health America of Northeast Florida, Public Official of the year by Children's Home Society and is a recipient of the Carol Brady Community Leadership Award for efforts in advancing maternal and child health. Ashley serves on the board of Florida Philanthropic Network, the Emily Balz Smith Foundation and is a member of the Duval County School Board.

Carol Smolenski, MPhil

Carol Smolenski is Executive Director and one of the founders of ECPAT-USA, a children's rights organization that has worked for the protection of children from commercial sexual exploitation since 1991. She is a long time nationally recognized expert on the issue of commercial sexual exploitation of children. At ECPAT-USA she has developed project against the trafficking of children in New York City, Mexico, Belize and Brazil. She has been named a subject matter expert on sexual exploitation of children for the Dept. of Health and Human Services Family and Youth Services Bureau and the Runaway and Homeless Training and Technical Assistant Center. She was named a member of the National Advisory Committee on the Sex Trafficking of Children and Youth in the United States. She is a winner of New York's Union Square Award. She is honored to be included in the New York New Abolitionists book. She has presented testimony in venues ranging from the New York City Council to the United States Congress to the United Nations. She is frequently quoted in media reports about child trafficking. She has a Masters degree in Urban Planning from Hunter College and an M.Phil. degree from Columbia University.

John B. Steever, MD

Dr. John Steever graduated the George Washington University Medical School in Washington DC. He completed an Internship, Residency and Fellowship in Pediatrics and Adolescent Medicine at Childrens Hospital Los Angeles in 1999. His training has focused on providing medical services to "high risk" youth including LGBT clients and those affected by HIV/AIDS. Dr Steever has been providing puberty suppression and cross gender hormones to youth at the Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center in New York since 2013. He currently works at the Adolescent Health Center at Mount Sinai Medical Center in Manhattan, New York as an Assistant Professor of Pediatrics. Dr. Steever strives to provide high quality health care to underserved youth in the New York Metropolitan area. He has written several articles on transgender medical care and is a member of the Mount Sinai Center for Transgender Medicine and Surgery.

Howard Taylor, PhD

Howard Taylor is Executive Director of the Global Partnership to End Violence Against Children, a UN-hosted initiative to end all forms of violence against every child, wherever in the world they live.

Howard is passionate about positive social change at scale. He has lived and worked in Africa, Asia, Europe and the US, where he has led a global corporate foundation, established a creative social enterprise, and built government teams—all to measurably improve the lives of millions of people.

As Vice-President and Managing Director of the Nike Foundation, Howard led the development and delivery of the Foundation's strategy, programs, partnerships and advocacy. He was the driving force behind the successful spin-out of Girl Effect as an independent, creative social business that uses branded mass and social media, technology and data to change behaviors and tackle negative social norms.

Prior to Nike, Howard held senior roles across the UK Government, including at the Department for International Development (DFID), Cabinet Office and Foreign Office. He was Chief of Staff to two Secretaries of State for International Development, and led DFID's largest country programs, in India and Ethiopia. In Ethiopia, he co-chaired the Development Assistance Group, responsible for coordinating the most impactful investment of over $3 billion/year of official development assistance to Ethiopia.

Howard is on the European Board of Mercy Corps. He is married with two children, and enjoys sports, music, politics, and pursuing inspirational ideas that can change the world.

Martin H. Teicher, MD, PhD

Martin H. Teicher is Director of the Developmental Biopsychiatry Research Program at McLean Hospital and Associate Professor of Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School. The primary mission of Dr. Teicher's research programs is to improve the life of children, adolescents and adults by exploring the etiology and treatment of psychiatric disorders that arise during development. He has pioneered research on the effects of childhood maltreatment on brain development, identified sensitive exposure periods when brain regions are most vulnerable, helped bring into focus the importance of emotional abuse and advanced the argument that maltreated and non-maltreated individuals with the same primary psychiatric diagnosis are clinically, neurobiologically and genetically distinct. Dr. Teicher is currently a member of the Editorial Boards of BMC Medicine and the Journal of Child Psychology and Psychiatry, scientific advisor to the Juvenile Bipolar Research Foundation, and member of the Board of Children, Youth and Families of the U.S. National Academies of Sciences, Engineering and Medicine. He has received 30 years of funding from the National Institute of Health, has authored over 200 articles and holds 18 U.S. patents primarily for diagnostic technology and pharmaceutical agents.

Cathy Spatz Widom, PhD

Cathy Spatz Widom, PhD, is a Distinguished Professor in the Psychology Department at John Jay College and a member of the Graduate Center faculty, City University of New York. She is an elected fellow of the American Psychological Association, American Psycho-pathological Association, and American Society of Criminology. She served on the Institute of Medicine Committee on Child Maltreatment Research, Policy, and Practice for the Next Decade and on the Committee on Law and Justice at the Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences at the National Research Council. She has received numerous awards for her research, including the Sutherland Award (2013) and the Stockholm Prize in Criminology (2016). Widom and her colleagues have published over 140 scholarly papers and book chapters on the long-term consequences of childhood abuse (physical and sexual) and neglect, including two articles in Science (1989 and 2015). Dr. Widom received her PhD in psychology from Brandeis University.

Audrey Wilson, MPA

Audrey Wilson is the Senior Director of programs for the New York City Department of Probation (DOP) Juvenile Operations. As Senior Director she oversees the effective management and delivery of citywide programs. Audrey began her career as a probation officer and was promoted through the ranks, serving as Director of Special Programs and New Initiatives, Acting Assistant Commissioner for Juvenile Operations, and the Executive Assistant to the Associate Commissioner of Juvenile Operations. Audrey's deep understanding of the connection between individual outcomes, community conditions, and support has led to the design and implementation of several programs at DOP. Audrey holds a Bachelor of Arts in American Studies State University of New York (SUNY) Old Westbury College and a Master's in Public Administration from Metropolitan College of New York.

Veronica Zeitlin, JD

Veronica Zeitlin is a Senior Counter-Trafficking and Gender Adviser in USAID's Center of Excellence for Democracy, Human Rights,

and Governance. She leads the coordination of Agency-wide efforts to combat human trafficking and address migration challenges. Highlights of her work at USAID include coordinating and leading the development of USAID's Counter-Trafficking in Persons (C-TIP) Policy, which outlined concrete and measurable objectives to revitalize and unify the Agency's C-TIP approach; providing technical assistance to USAID's overseas Missions on the design, management, and evaluation of C-TIP and migration programs; developing and delivering training to increase the Agency's institutional accountability to combat trafficking; conducting program evaluations and collaborating with research experts and other U.S. Government and external partners to identify best practices to combat trafficking.

Prior to joining USAID, Ms. Zeitlin worked at the State Department's Office to Monitor and Combat Trafficking in Persons, where she monitored human trafficking in more than 20 countries at a time though frequent in-country assessments and literature reviews; collaborated with foreign government officials and civil society activists to combat trafficking; and drafted country narratives for the State Department's annual Trafficking in Persons Report. Before working at State, Veronica was a consultant for USAID, UNICEF, and Refugees International. Prior to transitioning to the public sector, Veronica practiced law at Hughes Hubbard & Reed in New York. She holds a BA in Anthropology from Columbia University and a JD from the University of Virginia.

ACCREDITATION

The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide Continuing Medical Education for physicians.

CREDIT DESIGNATION

The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai designates this live activity for a maximum of 14.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits[™]. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

SOCIAL WORKERS

Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai, Department of Social Work Services is recognized by the New York State Education Department's State Board for Social Work as an approved provider of continuing education for licensed social workers #SW-0079 and designates this live in-person educational activity for 6.5 continuing education contact hours for each conference day. Participants must attend an entire conference day and submit all required documents in order to earn the full amount of CEs for the conference day (i.e., complete sign-ins and survey). No partial CE can be given. Participants who attend both conference days and submit all required documents will receive 13.0 continuing education contact hours.

VERIFICATION OF ATTENDANCE

Verification of attendance will be provided to all professionals.

Mount Sinai Adolescent Health Center

WHO WE ARE

Since 1968 we have been New York City's largest provider of comprehensive, free health and wellness services for youth ages 10–24. We are a national leader in training adolescent medicine and psychology specialists and conducting studies on adolescent health and wellness issues.

WHO WE SERVE

- 11,000 patients each year
- 70% have no health insurance
- 98% come from low-income families
- 92% are young people of color

WHAT WE DO

- Free primary, sexual and reproductive, dental and optical, and mental healthcare for young people ages 10–24
- Free prescriptions and eye glasses
- Services for LGBQ and transgender youth, teen parents, and trauma survivors
- HIV/AIDS prevention and treatment
- Substance abuse prevention and treatment
- Six in-school, full service clinics across New York City
- Nutrition and wellness services
- Legal and entitlement services

www.teenhealthcare.org

Mount
Sinai

*Adolescent
Health Center*

World Childhood Foundation, USA

World Childhood Foundation (WCF) envisions a world where all children are free from violence, sexual abuse, and exploitation. Founded in 1999 by H.M. Queen Silvia of Sweden, WCF supports the development of solutions to prevent and address violence, defend children's rights, and promote better living conditions for children.

A United Nations accredited NGO, WCF raises awareness about child sexual abuse through programmatic support, global advocacy initiative #EyesWideOpen (co-founded by H.R.H. Princess Madeleine) and high-level meetings with government, academic, civil society, and private sector leaders.

In 2016, the WCF served over 73,000 clients—both directly and indirectly—in the United States alone and launched the Stewards of Children Prevention Toolkit mobile app (www.socapp.org) in partnership with DarknesstoLight and Ericsson. Childhood USA is a board member of the Global Partnership to End Violence Against Children.

www.childhood-usa.org

CHILDHOOD

WORLD CHILDHOOD FOUNDATION
FOUNDED BY H.M. QUEEN SILVIA OF SWEDEN